Any democratic countries will not accept attempts to win in the election through vote-rigging: Senior General

State Administration Council Chairman Senior General Min Aung Hlaing holds talks with the Magway Region Administration Council members and departmental personnel on 4 April 2021.

CHAIRMAN of the State Administration Council Commander-in-Chief of Defence Services Senior General Min Aung Hlaing met members of the Magway Region Administration Council and departmental personnel at the office of Magway Region Administration Council yesterday afternoon.

Also present at the meeting were members of the Council General Maung Maung Kyaw and Lt-Gen Moe Myint Tun, Joint Secretary Lt-Gen Ye Win Oo, Union Minister for Religious Affairs and Culture U Ko Ko, Union Minister for Education Dr Nyunt Pe, Union Minister for Health and Sports Dr Thet Khaing Win, Chairman of the Magway Region Administration Council U Tint Lwin, Commander-in-Chief (Navy) Admiral Moe

Aung, senior military officers from the Office of the Commander-in-Chief, Commander of Central Command Brig-Gen Ko Ko Oo, members of the Magway Region Administration Council and departmental personnel.

Chairman of the Magway Region Administration Council U Tint Lwin reported to the Senior General on progress of social, economic, health and regional development undertakings, vaccination of COVID-19 and general matters.

Speaking on the occasion, the Senior General said election is essence in democracy. In childhood, students elected the leader of the class through the majority wish. Election of people's representatives through public wishes is more important in the election. In the time of Tatmadaw government, the Tatmadaw shaped step by step changes of democratization by observing the practice of democracy in other countries before the transition of democracy in Myanmar. The country was paved on the track of democracy the people have aspired and the 2010 multiparty general election was successfully held. After the election, progress were achieved in democratization, political, economic and social affairs, international relations and various sectors in the time of President U Thein Sein but the country faced challenges. As democracy was initiated for the country, it was required to know matters related to democracy.

The election law was amended in 2012 for NLD standing as the opposition party to be able to participate in the election. A new government emerged in 2015 and it ruled the country in the five-year term. In this regard, some criticisms came out for undertakings of the government. It can be seen the government could not achieve deserved progress in the political, economic and social affairs and all sectors the people expected.

The Tatmadaw severally urged the authorities to systematically solve the vote-rigging which emerged in 2020 election. Voting fraud is terrible.

Wish of the majority must be authentic with honest politics

DEMOCRACY is based on the wish of the majority, but such a wish must be authentic with honest politics. If the majority's wish is not honest, it is difficult to identify such politics is of democracy. The elected governments need actually to serve their tasks in a correct way of democracy.

Although simple efforts could secure the votes, such move was similar to deceitful acts in the examination to bag higher marks. As they did not solve the errors in voting list and made attempts to summon third Hluttaw for forming a new government, the country was declared under the State of Emergency. According to the assignment of the Tem Pro President, the Tatmadaw assumed the State duty and formed the State Administration Council.

The Council was formed with balanced number of civilians and military officers while Region and State Administration Council chairpersons were formed with civilians. The Tatmadaw is taking temporary responsibilities for ensuring the emergence of genuine democracy and disciplined, firm democracy. In investigation, officials of the Union Election Commission disclosed they followed instructions of the president without freedom.

Any democratic countries will not accept attempts to win in the election through vote-rigging. It is an act of assaulting democracy. On the first priority, all voter lists are under scrutiny and combined voting lists will be released. A plan is underway to recover loss of the economic sector caused by Covid-19. Peace process will be emphasized in accord with the NCA agreements as much as possible. Upon completion of processes in accord with the provisions of the State of Emergency, a free and fair election will be held in line with the 2008 Constitution, and State power will be handed over the winning party meeting democratic norms.

Magway Region possesses 352 per cent of edible oil sufficiency, dubbed as oil pot of the country. Outbreak of diseases based on edible oil is based on the consumption of cooking oil outside the region in addition to the use of Monosodium glutamate and narcotic drugs.

Magway Region has 76 per cent of rice. The Senior General stressed the need to increase per-acre yield of paddy and share agricultural knowledge how to increase per-acre yield of crops to local farmers as cost will be high in an expansion of farmlands.

A country needs to have electricity, smooth transportation, good communication facilities and the improvement of human resources for health and education systems. Health and education must be encouraged to have better human resources. Preparations are being made to reopen schools closed in the outbreak of COVID-19. Most of the people in more than 800 literates have primary and middle education.

The Senior General stressed the need to strive for the successful implementation of river pumping station projects in Magway Region to irrigate farmlands. Growing of trees must be undertaken to have success in thriving of trees for the sake of posterity.

As 70 per cent of the people are residing in rural area, engaging in agriculture and livestock breeding tasks, it is necessary to establish agriculture and livestock breeding institutes, colleges and universities in a long run. Modern agricultural techniques must be disseminated to farmers. Healthy and clean livestock breeding system must be implemented for a larger production in livestock breeding sector.

Implementation of one village one product system will contribute much to marketable process of domestic products as well as the improvement of tourism industry. Booming of domestic trading can help increase income of the region and improve the living standard of the people. Local administrative bodies need to emphasize development of their regions and the State as good service personnel of the country.

After the meeting, the Senior General and party cordially greeted members of the Magway Region Administration Council and departmental personnel.—MNA

Individual acts and behaviours need to uplift prestige of the Tatmadaw: Senior General

THE Tatmadaw declared the State of Emergency for the country in accord with provisions of the Constitution (2008) as of 1 February 2021 and is temporarily taking the State duty due to duty assignment of the Pro Tem President. The State Administration Council was formed for all-round development of the country in political, social, economic and processes, said Chairman of the State Administration Council Commander-in-Chief of Defence Services Senior General Min Aung Hlaing in meeting with officers, other ranks and families of Magway Station yesterday morning.

Also present at the meeting were Council member Lt-Gen Moe Myint Tun, Joint Secretary of the Council Lt-Gen Ye Win Oo, Commander-in-Chief (Navy) Admiral Moe Aung, senior military officers from the Office of the Commander-in-Chief and Commander of the Central Command Brig-Gen Ko Ko Oo.

In his address, the Senior General said the Tatmadaw has taken responsibility of the State for more than two months due to the emergence of events. Before these events, the Senior General said he visited various stations and explained occurrences in the country. The development of a country is based on peace and tranquillity in political and security trends. To have political peace and tranquillity, the system of multiparty democracy must be practised in a correct manner. In democracy, people's representatives are elected by the people, so correct undertakings will have good results. If not, the number of oppositions will increase. Hence, politics must be fair and honest.

In reviewing the pre-election period, doubts about the expression of parties in canvassing could be found unfair. Declarations of the party policies in canvassing were placed under censorship. Various orders were issued with a reason of COVID-19. So, the Senior General recounted he talked about holding of a free and fair election during his visits. Emphasis was placed on holding a free and fair election.

The government joining hands with the Tatmadaw strived for restoring internal peace and signed the Nationwide Ceasefire Agreement-NCA within four years. In addition, attempts were made to grasp the State power in an incorrect way. So, the country was declared as the State of Emergency, and the Tatmadaw temporarily took Council is implementing five future programmes and nine objectives for all-round development of political, economic and social sectors. State defence is the main duty of the Tatmadaw, and efforts must be made for shaping the powerful, capable Tatmadaw.

As individual acts and behaviours need to uplift prestige of the Tatmadaw, emphasis must be placed on the capacity enhancement of individuals. Moreover, not only themselves but also families are to take physical exercises and reading for ensuring health and fitness as well as education promotion. The Tatmadaw, being a discipline and obedience organization, must have fair administration at different levels and knowledge about social and administrative ways with leadership skills.

After the meeting, the Senior General presented foodstuffs to an official.

Then, the Senior General and party cordially greeted officers, other ranks and families from various stations at the meeting.

Likewise, Council member General Maung Maung Kyaw met officers, other ranks and families of local airbase in Magway Station and explained current political changes, situation of the Tatmadaw for forming the State Administration Council after taking State responsibilities in accord with the 2008 constitution to improve the country in all aspects, and ongoing process.

The General presented foodstuffs to the commander of the airbase.

Union Minister for Education Dr Nyunt Pe who accompanied the Senior General met education staff at No 1 Basic Education High School in Magway and discussed grievances of students and parents as well as the country in closure of schools in outbreak of COVID-19, arrangements to reopen schools in the future, systematic keeping of teaching aid and demanding of the necessary equipment, conducting lectures on the capacity enhancement to teachers, invitation of reports for using solar system for the assigned villages where electricity and water cannot consume, and the fulfillment of local people's needs.

Likewise, Union Minister for Health and Sports Dr Thet Khaing Win cordially met with staff from the Medical Services Department and Public Health Department in Magway Region and those from People's General Hospital and instructed them to fully provide health care services to the local people. He viewed health progress of local patients and comforted them. The Union Minister also viewed round the newly-built hospital.—MNA the government carried out the tasks not in conformity with the law.

So, the people were disappointed with voting and some people incited no-vote movement. In democracy, those who do not cast votes will face loss. So, the Senior General always urged all to cast votes in various regions he visited and elect those who can serve the region and the State, who understand the law and who can govern the regions with goodwill. After the election, doubtful results came the State responsibilities due to duty assignment of the Pro Tem President and formed the State Administration Council. It was unacceptable that gigantic voting error is making fun of democracy and assaulting democracy. Currently, the newly-formed Union Election Commission is inspecting voting lists of each township in detail. Upon completion, the combined voting lists will be released. Moreover, as bribery cases were found, investigation is going on.

Union Election Commission

Departmental officials need to persuade the staff into the workplaces

“SERVICE personnel participated in CDM movement due to incitements of unscrupulous persons. They also took part in protests and destructive acts. Being State service personnel, they need to abide by six oaths of State service personnel. They have to be loyal to the State and be free from party politics to serve the order and duty with life’s sacrifice. Departmental officials need to persuade the staff, regarded as invaluable human resources, of absent without leave for return of various reasons into the workplaces. The Union Minister stressed the need to strive for achieving success in workplaces. The ministry will fulfil the needs,” said Union Minister for Transport and Communications Admiral Tin Aung San in meeting with departmental heads, officers and staff of departments and services on 3 and 4 April. The Union Minister said the State Administration Council was formed after the state of emergency was declared for the country according to the 2008 Constitution to foster a genuine, disciplined democracy as the result of the election was not address due to voting frauds in the election. The Council assumed the State responsibilities by adopting five future programmes, he added. During his inspection tour, the Union Minister viewed Myanmar Mercantile Marine College, shipbuilding tasks in the dock in the compound of Myanma Shipyards through joint venture process, running of 7-up passenger express train which departed from Yangon railway station, functions of

Service public interests, analyzing good and bad deeds

MYANMA Railways gives rail transportation along the route of Yangon's circular railways and suburban ones centring at Yangon railway station for the convenience of people on a daily basis.

Sabotage acts were found on the railways blocked by timber logs, bags of sand and old rail track between Kyogone and Thamaing

Myothit railway stations while the up and down railways on the section between Thamaing Myothit and Thamaing stations were crossed by timber logs in addition to taking out spikes of railways and disconnecting the rail tracks.

Thanks to service members of the Tatmadaw and those of Railways Police Force, local dutiful people and officials of Myanma Railways who cleared debris on the railways, trains could resume their runs to destinations with giving services to the people. Currently, not only destruction on railways but also blocking roads, destroying bridges and setting fire to office buildings were found across the nation.

Soon after those dissatisfied with current political events have staged peaceful protests, some persons acted riotous protests. They transformed their acts into the anarchic mob and then into rebellion. Rioters and mobs committed sabotages and violent attacks as well as destroying public possessions. The actions against government and destruction of public things cause difficulties and hindrances to the people, rather than lessening the interests of the people.

People should not do destructive acts. Destruction brings loss to the social life of the people. Public panic hinders the operation of trade and monetary services for the people who wish to live peacefully. In fact, destruction acts are behaviours of insurgents. Once, those insurgents committed armed struggling line by destroying roads and bridges as well as urban and rural buildings in the disability of the State. Members of Tatmadaw and Police Force prevented such kinds of destructions while reestablishing the towns and villages.

As such, all the people need to take care of avoiding sabotages to ruin the country in the political changes. If not, they would be similar to destructionists. Political crises can be solved through political ways and means, but destructive acts. So, people must serve the good deeds by analyzing constructive and destructive acts.

Millions mark Easter under coronavirus curbs

Millions of Christians around the world celebrated a second Easter under coronavirus restrictions Sunday, as nations tried to control worrying Covid-19 surges.

DESPIITE vaccine rollouts gathering pace in many countries, dramatic spikes in cases have forced the reimposition of deeply unpopular restrictions from Canada to Europe and South America.

Pope Francis was due to celebrate Easter morning mass with Italy under a strict lockdown over the weekend.

Ahead of his Easter Sunday mass, he delivered a message of hope and renewal.

"It is always possible to begin anew, because there is a new life that God can awaken in us in spite of all our failures," Francis said during Easter Vigil Mass on Saturday.

"From the rubble of our hearts, God can create a work of art; from the ruined remnants of our humanity, God can prepare a new history."

Tighter curbs have come into effect in Belgium as well as in France, where authorities are scrambling to deal with a serious spike in cases that has overwhelmed hospitals in Paris.

In the COVID-19 intensive care unit of the Antony Private Hospital south of Paris, no bed is staying free for long.

Nurse Louisa Pinto gestured to a vacated room where a cleaner was already at work, scrubbing down the mattress for the next arrival.

"The bed won't even have time to cool down," she said.

Across the Atlantic, Canada crossed the threshold of one million coronavirus cases as it battled a new wave of infections, forcing several provinces to tighten restrictions ahead of the Easter weekend.

And celebrations have been dampened in South America too, where Brazil is in the grip of a devastating outbreak likely fuelled by a more contagious variant.

The worrying situation in the continent forced Peru to go into an Easter lockdown, Bolivia to seal its frontier with Brazil, and Chile to close all borders.

"I beg you, get a vaccine"

The pandemic has claimed more than 2.8 million lives worldwide, but populations are growing increasingly frustrated with movement restrictions.

Thousands protested in the German city of Stuttgart on Saturday against COVID-19 restrictions, with a heated debate under way in the nation about tightening them in the face of a third wave of infections.

Such demonstrations have become a regular occurrence in Germany, bringing together members of the extreme left and far-right as well as conspiracy theorists and anti-vaccine campaigners.

Misinformation about vaccines has been a major problem in the fight against COVID-19, fueled by how rapidly baseless conspiracy theories about the pandemic can proliferate on social media.

A dramatic illustration of its impact is in Serbia, where the government is desperately trying to convince people to get vaccinated and has around a million doses available - a buffet of Pfizer, AstraZeneca, Sputnik V and Sinopharm shots.

"I beg you, people, get a vaccine," Serbia's populist President Aleksandar Vucic pleaded recently.

"We have them and we will have more, I beg you, in the name of God, take them."

Serbia's leading epidemiologist Predrag Kon said the slow take-up is "solely a consequence" of anti-vaccine misinformation online.

Bollywood star tests positive
In the Himalayan kingdom of Bhutan, however, vaccinations are proceeding at a fast pace, with authorities giving at least one shot to 60 percent of its population of less than a million.

Neighbouring India is

meanwhile battling a new surge, expanding its vaccination programme on Thursday to the 45-60 age group. The country is aiming to inoculate 300 million people by the end of July.

Experts have warned that infections in the vast South Asian nation are increasing at a faster pace compared with last year.

Bollywood actor Akshay Kumar on Sunday became the latest Indian celebrity to test positive, following cricket superstar Sachin Tendulkar last month.

Next-door Bangladesh will implement a lockdown from Monday as it grapples with a sharp rise in infections, amid reports that hospitals are struggling to cope.

Use COVID-19 recovery to make inclusion 'a reality', UN chief says on World Day

Building a more inclusive and accessible world that recognizes the contributions of all people, including persons with disabilities must be a "key goal" as countries work to recover from COVID-19 pandemic, United Nations Secretary-General said on Friday, commemorating World Autism Awareness Day.

"THE crisis has created new obstacles and challenges. But efforts to reignite the global economy offer an opportunity to reimagine the workplace to make diversity, inclusion and equity a reality", Secretary-General António Guterres said.

"Recovery is also a chance to rethink our systems of education and training to ensure that persons with autism are afforded opportunities for realizing their potential", he added.

Breaking 'old habits' crucial Mr Guterres also emphasized that breaking old habits will be crucial. For persons with autism, he added, access to decent work on an equal basis requires creating an enabling environment, along with reasonable accommodations.

"To truly leave no one behind in pursuit of the 2030 Agenda on Sustainable Development, we must realize the rights of all persons with disabilities, including persons with autism, ensuring their full participation in social, cultural and economic life", he said.

"Let us work together with all persons with disabilities and their representative organizations to find innovative solutions to recover better and build a better world for all." Inequalities worsened by COVID-19

According to the UN World Health Organization (WHO), one in 160 children has an autism spectrum disorder (ASD). ASD begins in childhood and tends to persist into adolescence and adulthood.

Intervention during early childhood is important to promote the optimal development and well-being of persons with an ASD, WHO added, emphasizing the importance of monitoring of child development as part of routine maternal and child health care.

Response to the remarks by Ms Christine Schraner Burgener
Special Envoy of the UN Secretary-General for Myanmar made at the UN Security Council session on 31 March 2021

State Administration Council
Nay Pyi Taw, 2 April 2021

1. At the UN Security Council session held on 31 March 2021, the remarks by Special Envoy of the UN Secretary-General for Myanmar Ms Christine Schraner Burgener were a far cry from reality and could delay and destabilize the efforts by the State Administration Council to establish a genuine and disciplined multiparty democracy.
2. The statements made by Ms Burgener have no basis in reality and the State Administration Council refutes the claims made by Ms Burgener as reported by UN News on 31 March 2021, including the following: (a) that “widespread, systemic attacks on civilians in Myanmar were orchestrated by leaders of the military coup”; (b) that “On Saturday, Armed Forces Day, security forces turned against their own citizens, brutally killing 100 people, including children, both on the streets and in their homes”; (c) that lives that could be saved under normal circumstances were being lost, a banking collapse “appears imminent”, and shockwaves to businesses have “toppled the supply chain while fundamentally impacting the labour force”; (d) that there is increased “possibility of civil war at an unprecedented scale”; that “the whole country is on the verge of spiralling into a failed State” and that “Military leaders have clearly shown they are not capable of managing the country”; and (e) that “the ground situation will only worsen”, and that “a bloodbath is imminent”.

3. Ms Burgener’s remarks contravene the basic principles of sovereignty, and the fact that the United Nations is meant to work towards peace and stability of the world’s nations. Moreover, Ms Burgener’s remarks are inaccurate and misleading, with regard to the current situation in Myanmar, which is as follows:

- (a) On 1 February 2021, the Tatmadaw took over state duties. Security forces did not prevent or otherwise intervene in the peaceful protests that followed. It was only from 9 February onwards when the protests became violent, with rioting, that security forces implemented measures of riot control, keeping to international norms for crowd and riot control by exercising utmost restraint and using the least force and the lowest level of response possible in each situation. The protests increased in violence only after the Committee Representing Pyithu Hluttaw (CRPH) was formed. Starting from the last week of February, the riots intensified into anarchic mobs who became extremely violent, setting up barricades of public roads, and committing arson. No country can tolerate such violence and anarchy, and the security forces had to prevent and control the mobs using riot control methods systematically. After the first week of March, NLD supporters changed to a deliberate strategy of armed insurrection, including armed attacks on members of the security forces, armed raids on police stations, arson attacks on factories and industrial buildings. Security forces dealt with these in accordance with the law. Ms Burgener did not mention the violence instigated by the NLD and its supporters, and that the protests had turned into armed insurgency. Therefore, her remarks are inaccurate, biased, and one-sided. Statistics show that the whole country did not support the NLD in these acts: even on the day of the “five twos” (22 /2/2021), when the NLD claimed that the whole country demonstrated, less than 9% of the population were involved. NLD supporters have exaggerated the situation with

- help from the media.
- (b) Tatmadaw Day (March 27) was designated as National People’s Revolution Day by the CRPH and its insurgents to incite acts of sabotage. Ms Burgener did not even mention the threats and incitements or the ensuing arson attacks and armed violence by the insurgents and only mentioned the reports of casualties that resulted from the crackdown on armed violence. Ms Burgener did not object to the fact that the protesters used minors on the streets. The Tatmadaw has never suppressed or hidden the reports of casualties: instead, all deaths are being investigated in accordance with police procedures.
 - (c) Ms Burgener never mentions the deaths that have resulted from the Civil Disobedience Movement (CDM). Some doctors have refused to work or ordered their staff not to work. The CDM also threatens health staff who wish to work with social punishment, harassment, and other attacks. This has led to close-down of certain hospitals and clinics. People who would not die in normal times have died. In 2019, before the COVID-19 pandemic, the Yangon General Hospital had 89,072 in-patients and 6,475 patient deaths, meaning 539 deaths on average per month. Currently the Yangon General Hospital is unable to fully function due to the actions of some doctors. Nationwide, the refusal of certain health staff who have joined the CDM by not going to work to treat their patients, or not allowing other staff to work, have led to a significant number of deaths, especially among the poor who cannot afford private health care. Nationwide, the Tatmadaw is making efforts to address the gaps in health care services by opening up military hospitals and clinics to the public free of cost. To date, Tatmadaw health facilities have treated 112,625 out-patients and 35,700 in-patients, provided delivery care to 7,074 mothers, and successfully delivered 7,074 newborns.

An armed insurgency erupted and home-made arms were seized with the perpetrators being captured.

Response to the remarks by Ms Christine Schraner Burgener Special Envoy of the UN Secretary-General ...

- (d) After independence in 1948, the Myanmar government was mocked and derided as the “Yan-gon government” because of crises and instability in the country. This is not the case now. Some armed groups who violated the Nationwide Ceasefire Agreement

(NCA) launched attacks on army and police posts in some border areas. Accordingly, the Tatmadaw retaliated against these armed groups. Ms Burgener paints a false picture of imminent civil war.

- (e) Ms Burgener ignores the fact that there is stability and security in the majority of areas in the country (as shown by the 2020 elections) and exaggerates events to call Myanmar a country “on the verge of spiralling into a failed State”, which is far from the reality.
- (f) The government machinery is now running smoothly due to measures taken by the State Administration Council. Ms Burgener has ignored this fact and has made one-sided accusations against Myanmar’s military leadership.
- (g) Now, the State Administration Council has accused the military leaders of ignoring the systematic implementation of the administration for the sake of peace and stability in the country.

Locals are receiving treatments by military medics both at public hospitals (without civilian doctors and nurses) and military hospitals.

4. Regretfully, Ms Christine Schraner Burgener presented a report that was based on biased news sources far from reality to the United Nations Security Council. As the UN Secretary-General’s Special Envoy for Myanmar, Ms Burgener had been expected to provide an accurate unbiased report on Myanmar. Instead, she has violated UN principles by making one-sided and inflammatory accusations against a sovereign state.

Violent people keep doing terrorist activities

THE violent thugs armed with homemade bombs and petrol bottles attacked the police stations in some townships on 4 April.

At about 11:40 pm on 3 April, a male suspect (still investigating) riding a motorcycle threw a homemade bomb into the Bureau of Special Investigation office, causing damages to a vehicle of security forces.

Similarly, at about 3:40 am on 4 April, a building of township administrative office and township municipal department of Kyun Taw North Ward in Sangyaung caught fire and the security forces, and firefighters extinguished. According to the inspection, the violent people made an arson attack on the township administrative office.

It reported No (8) tube well building caught fire and damaged.

Moreover, a bomb supposed to be US-made M 67 was found in the Kawkareik police station compound in the morning. The regional military command engineer systematically conducted it to explode. But it did not explode, and so the officials saved the bomb at a safe place.

On the same day, two men (still investigating) riding a motorcycle threw a bomb into the MyTel operator’s headquarter located beside Bago-Thanatpin road in Leikpyar Kyan Ward of Bago. It caused damages to the security building.

Moreover, these two suspects threw another two bombs to the closed betel nut shop and

14 new cases of COVID-19 reported on 4 April, total figure rises to 142,511

MYANMAR'S COVID-19 positive cases rose to 142,511 after 14 new cases were reported on 4 April 2021 according to the Ministry of Health and Sports. Among these confirmed cases, 131,815 have been discharged from hospitals.—MNA

Chickpea market remains flat amid transport problems

THE chickpea price remained flat in March-end and early April, owing to the transport problems triggered by political changes.

The trading nearly comes to a halt in the Mandalay market. The price moved in the range of K69,000-72,000 per bag, depending on the varieties.

However, the chickpea growers expect a good price in the harvest season amid low yield this year.

On 5 February, the prices of chickpeas ranged between US$1,365 and $1,385 per metric ton, Bayintnaung market's data showed.

Bayintnaung wholesale centre, a primary market for exports via maritime trade, has been closed down since 11 February.

At present, the domestic bean market is positively related to supply and demand law. The black bean price depends on the buyers and sellers. There is no official set price, the traders stressed.

“The prices usually fluctuate depending on supply and demand. When the peas are loaded on the ship, the prices climb up. At present, the market is slowing down due to transport problems and transaction difficulties”, said a trader from Mandalay who shared his opinion.

The peas are cultivated in October and November, and they are harvested in the January-April period.

More than 249,245 tonnes of various pulses and beans were exported to foreign markets between 1 October and 4 December of the current financial year 2020-2021, with an estimated value of US$217 million. The chickpea exports accounted for 1,549 tonnes, generating an income of over $997,000, the Commerce Ministry's data indicated. — KK/GNLM

Myanmar manufacturing sector continues downturn in March

Myanmar mainly exports CMP garments to markets in Japan and Europe, along with the Republic of Korea, China, and the US.

MYANMAR'S manufacturing sector recorded an accelerated downturn in February 2021 as political changes led to factory closures. The IHS Markit Myanmar Manufacturing Purchasing Managers' Index measures the seven-month low in output, new orders, purchasing and stocks of both inputs and finished goods, stated the IHS Markit on 1 April 2021.

The layoff is extended, and the workers are asked to return to their hometowns amid the political changes.

The HIS Markit stated that higher material costs and unfavourable exchange rate movements contributed to a sharp increase in cost burdens.

Exports of finished industrial goods drastically plummeted to US$3.209 billion between 1 October and 19 March in the current financial year 2020-2021, a severe drop of $1.7 billion compared with the corresponding period of the previous FY, according to the Ministry of Commerce.

As per the ministry figures, the exports of finished industrial goods totalled $4.9 billion during the same period in the 2019-2020FY.

Myanmar's manufacturing sector is primarily concentrated in garment and textiles produced on the Cutting, Making, and Packing basis, contributing to its GDP to a certain extent.

Myanmar's garment export dropped by over 25 per cent as of the first quarter of the current FY compared with a year-ago period on the back of a slump in demand by the European Union market, according to the Ministry of Commerce.

At present, the CMP garment factories temporarily shut down and left thousands of workers unemployed.

Myanmar mainly exports CMP garments to markets in Japan and Europe, along with the Republic of Korea, China, and the US.

The garment sector is among the prioritized sectors driving up exports. The CMP garment industry has emerged as a promising one, with preferential trade from Western countries.

Myanmar's garment factories operate under the CMP system. Those engaged in this industry are striving to transform CMP into the free-on-board (FoB) system. As the factories cannot enter into a contract for FoB, Own Design Manufacturing (ODM) and Own Business Manufacturing (OBM), the income is limited, according to the MGMA.

According to data from the Ministry of Commerce, exports of garments manufactured under the cut-make-pack (CMP) system were valued US$4.798 billion in the last financial year 2019-2020.

Although the sector is struggling due to the cancellation of order from the European countries and suspension of Western nations' trade during the pandemic, export values rose in the previous FY (1 October 2019-30 September 2020).

The export value of CMP garments was only $850 million in the 2015-2016FY, but it has tripled over the past two FYs. In the 2016-2017FY, about $2 billion was earned from exports of CMP garments. The figure increased to an estimated $2.5 billion in the 2017-2018FY and $2.2 billion in the 2018 mini-budget period (from April to September). It tremendously grew to $4.6 billion in the 2018-2019FY, according to the Commerce Ministry.

Since an outbreak like COVID-19 might happen in the future, it is necessary to prepare for a sufficient raw materials supply. That is why the public and private sectors will cooperate in setting up the supply chain on our own sources, including weaving, knitting, dyeing, and sewing factories.

The MGMA has more than 500 members and garment factories in Myanmar, employing more than 400,000 workers. Investors prefer to invest in countries with inexpensive labour, such as Myanmar. — KK/GNLM

Mwetaw Kakku vs. hot-air balloon festival in Taunggyi

By Maung Tha (Archaeology)
Translated by TTA

TAUNGGYI CITY located on 4,712 feet above sea level possessing beautiful town plan and natural scenes, and less than 34 degree centigrade is famous among local and foreign travellers. So, those who pay visits to the Inlay Lake continue their trips to Mwetaw Kakku, Htamsam Cave and Pa-O villages around Taunggyi.

Hot-air balloon festival and Bonkahtein festival held in Tazaungmone are very famous in Taunggyi on a yearly basis.

Background of Taunggyi

Myanmar Encyclopaedia mentioned the title of Taunggyi City was based on a high hill in eastern edge of the city. The Ministry of Home Affairs stated Taunggyi City was originated from Dontaungti Village of Pa-O ethnics in 1200 ME and it was called Htaungkyee in Shan language, meaning the location of thriving a kind of plant similar to persimmon. It was the venue in northern part of Basic Education High School No 4 in Taunggyi.

Currently, Taunggyi Township takes a position on 747.83 square miles of land and Taunggyi, 14.59 square miles of land. Taunggyi Township is formed with Taunggyi, Ayethaya, Shwenyaung and Kyauktalongyi towns, 51 wards and 371 villages from 24 village-tracts. The township shares border with Hopong Township in the east, Kalaw and Nyaungshwe townships in the west, Hsihseng Township in the south and Yaksawk Township in the north.

Various ethnics are residing Taunggyi Township, Pa-O, Bamar, Shan, Intha and Danu ethnics of whom are the majority. According to the census data released on September 2018, there were 389,191 people of population in Taunggyi Township and 93.74 per cent of them (364,845 population) have faith in Buddhism.

The township is facilitated with the University of Medicine, Technological University, University of Computer Studies, University of Distance Education, Taunggyi University, 26 Basic Education High Schools, 14 BEHS branches, 42 BEMSS and BEMS branches and 181 Post-Primary Schools and BEPSs. Likewise, there are eight government hospitals including Sao San Htun Hospital (500-bed), Women's and Children's Hospital (200-bed) and five private hospitals in the township.

Among many stupas and temples, Culamani Pagoda in Taunggyi and Mwetaw Kakku Pagoda in Kakku Village are famous in the township.

Mwetaw Kakku

Kakku Village where clusters of ancient pagodas are located takes a position in Mwetaw

Village of Nawngkha Village-tract in Kyauktalongyi of Taunggyi Township. Kakku is 26 miles west of Taunggyi. Travellers from Taunggyi have easy access to Kakku by car, motorcycle and train. Clusters of Mwetaw Kakku pagodas are some far from Kakku railway station.

The clusters of pagodas are fenced with brick wall. Four Buddha images can be seen at the arches to the precinct. Kakku Hsutaungpyae Buddha image is kept at the northern arch.

A gilt pit statue is fenced with wire meshes at the end of northern stairway.

Disappeared pagodas

Clusters of Mwetaw Kakku pagodas were located in the jungle near Mwetaw Village. Buddha Pujaniya festivals were held in the colonial era but anyone could not pay visit to the pagodas in the post-independence era. It was because the area was identified as black area due to lack of peace and tranquillity.

In 1996, people from Taunggyi saw some holy rays from the area around Kyeebyu Lake. Taunggyi and Kyeebyu Lake is in more than 26 miles distance. Hence, the clusters of pagodas were found.

With regard to Kakku, Kak means camp in Pa-O language and Ku, the border. So, Kakku means the pagoda located in border camp. In fact, Kakku Village was the border of Saophas from Hsihseng and Nyaungshwe. That is why the pagodas are called Kakku pagodas.

Some scholars said construction of Mwetaw Kakku pagodas were started from Bagan King Alaungsithu (1174-1211 AD). According to the records of Pa-O ethnics, King Narapati Sithu renovated the pagodas.

The book on history of pagoda mentioned cluster of this Kakku pagodas were enshrined with sacred relics of Lord Gotama Buddha. The pagodas were named Kakku Pagoda dedicating to Lord Kakusanda Buddha who earliest attained the Enlightenment in Bhadda world.

Titles of Mwetaw Kakku Pagoda were Kakku Mwetaw Pagoda (1893), Shwe Wetku Pagoda (history of Narapatisithu), Shwe Wetgu Pagoda (folded papers of Pa-O ethnics), Thettu Pagoda (records in 1816) and Shwegugyi Pagoda (bell inscription in 1793).

At present, it is expected there would be some 2,500 pagodas at Mwetaw Kakku cluster of pagodas, some of which are new pagodas, some old ones and some damaged ones. An oral history stated there would be 7,623 pagoads there. But, records showed there were 2,402 pagodas in 1918, 2,548 in 1928 and 2,478 in 2001.

Veteran historian Professor Dr Than Tun compiled a paper on Kakku Pagoda Taw, saying that he had heard information on Kakku Mwetaw in the reign of King Bodaw Phaya (King Baddon) in 1785-1819; a bell inscription showed the pagoda on the hillock was called Shwegugyi; an umbrella was hoisted atop the pagoda on 17 February 1802; a bell inscription expressed in 1893 in centre of pagodas was called Kakku Mwetaw; pagodas were about 15 feet high on the average; and number of pagodas reached 2,478 in February 2001.

Dr Than Tun reviewed that works of celestial beings at the pagodas might be carved around 1800 AD. Bell inscriptions expressed in Shan language mentioned that pagodas and bells were cast by U Hnaik, U Sai and monk Ariyavamsa.

Inscriptions on names of renovation for the pagodas could be seen but there was no original donors.

Pagodas are about 10 feet high on the average. Donors might be Saophas, town administrators and richmen. During yearwise Buddha Pujaniya festivals, some pagodas might be built within a day, according to the reviews of scholars. Some assumed pagodas did not increase gradually within more than 200 years, and they might be built one after another.

Hot-air balloon festival in Taunggyi

Hot-air balloon festival is a traditional festival in Taunggyi. Whenever Thadingyut festival has been held, local people of Taunggyi start preparations to host the hot-air balloon festival in conjunction with Kathina ceremony. The hot-air balloon festival is held at Awaiya ground in Taunggyi before the full moon day and it ended on the full moon day.

Night large balloons are 24.5 feet in diametre and more than 900 feet in circular area hanging more than 10,000 small fireworks. The balloons are made of Shan paper or textile decorated with colourful artworks. Each large balloon costs more than K3 million.

Background history of hot-

air balloon festival

Led by abbot of Kontha Monastery in Myoma ward of Taunggyi, local people released a large hot-air balloon in Tazaungmone of 1303 ME, dedicating to paying homage to Culamani Pagoda on abode of Tavatimsa. The balloon was made by Daw Thint and group from Kunyikon Ward with the use of 30 sewing machines.

At that time, the first-ever hot-air balloon was 50 feet in diameter. It was hung with paper works of four Lokapala celestial beings. Each paper work was fit with K25 of Myanmar currency note.

Kontha monastery released one more hot-air balloon made of coarse paper. The balloon with 24 feet in diameter was hung with umbrellas, food carriers, soaps, sarongs and currency coins in addition to an announcement to give one bag of rice and a container of cooking oil weighing 10 viss as reward to the person who caught the balloon.

In 1945 when Our Day was held in Taunggyi, people from public residential wards competitively released hot-air balloons.

Hot-air balloons were made to beautifully drop stick fireworks in 1953. White flares were used at hot-air balloons in 1956. Later, famous firework masters U Hsaung, U Po Yi and U Tone strived for production of better hot-air balloons with explosions of colourful ignites.

In 1971, subordinates of those masters created hot-air balloons in shapes of flying pigeon, circle fireworks and snakes. In around 1960, festival of releasing hot-air balloons emphasized competition of varieties of fireworks in shapes of pagodas and monasteries.

In 1976-77, hot-air balloons bore better fireworks with beautifully colourful explosives. Hot-air balloons were decorated with Seinnapan lanterns and then illustrated with various items of pictures in 1970.

Taunggyi's hot-air balloon festival which started in 1951 will turn 70 in near future. Hundreds of thousands of local and foreign guests enjoy the festival dedicating to Culamani pagodas in Tavatimsa and Taunggyi yearly.

A large number of local and foreign visitors bound for the hot-air balloon festival of Taunggyi proves dwellers of Taunggyi have been preserving the hot-air balloon festival as the culture of Shan State for many years, disseminating information throughout Myanmar as well as across the world.

ASEAN Football: Suzuki Cup to be held in December

THE ASEAN Football Federation (AFF) has announced that the ASEAN Football Federation's Suzuki Cup will be launched in December 2021, according to the AFF.

AFF President, Major-General Khiev Sameth, said, "As always, our first priority is the health and safety of everyone connected with the event. As such, we have been monitoring Covid-19 developments, both within ASEAN and in the wider world, on a continuous basis. While there have been encouraging results in vaccine development, we are cognisant that the process of vaccine approval, as well as the practicalities of the distribution and the implementation of vaccine programmes across the world including ASEAN will take some time."

"Given the complexities around the organization of the event, and many people and organisations that are impacted by it, the AFF believes in taking a pragmatic approach and making a considered decision early that will allow the stakeholders in the event to have enough notice to reorganize their activities – and so that planning for the end of the year can be focused around the AFF Suzuki Cup as a great occasion for football in the region as it has always been," the AFF President said.

"Looking at the crowded football schedule for 2021, including both international as well as domestic events which have been held over from 2020, also makes hosting our tournament in December an ideal time. The new dates, starting on 5th December and running into 1st January 2022, will provide the best opportunity for the event to be staged in its full format with the home and away fixtures in both the group and knockout stages, and with stadiums filled with fans to encourage and celebrate their teams," the AFF President added.—GNLM ■

Hampden 'likely' to host fans at Euro 2020

SCOTLAND'S national clinical director is confident Hampden Park will be able to accommodate fans for four Euro 2020 matches in June.

Glasgow is one of 12 cities due to host the tournament that was delayed 12 months due to the coronavirus pandemic.

UEFA have given the hosts until April 7 to notify them on what percentage of supporters will be allowed to attend matches with Covid-19 restrictions on large crowds still in place across the continent.

Professor Jason Leitch said it is highly likely that numbers will be capped to maintain social distancing requirements, but that some fans should be allowed in barring major setbacks in Scotland's route out of lockdown.—AFP ■

Jota lifts Liverpool back into Champions League contention

LIVERPOOL clicked back into form to thrash Arsenal 3-0 at the Emirates on Saturday and rekindle their chances of a top-four finish in the Premier League.

Diogo Jota came off the bench to score twice either side of Mohamed Salah's 26th goal of the season as Jurgen Klopp's men closed to within two points of fourth-placed Chelsea.

The manner of the victory will be just as pleasing as the scoreline for Klopp as Liverpool looked far more like their old selves ahead of a trip to Real Madrid in the first leg of their Champions League quarter-final tie on Tuesday.

Chelsea's shock 5-2 defeat at home to West Brom earlier on Saturday opened the door for both sides to close in on their target of a top-four finish.

However, it was only Liverpool who showed any ambition as Arsenal were thoroughly outplayed.

The visitors pressed the Gunners high and quickly recovered possession, but lacked the killer edge up front to turn their dominance into goals until Jota was introduced on the hour mark.

Roberto Firmino flashed a shot just wide from outside the box before James Milner also failed to hit the target with the best chance of the first period. Arsenal got to half-time without any damage done on the scoreboard, but suffered a major injury blow as Kieran Tierney limped off just before the break.

Tierney's outstanding form for club and country has seen calls for Liverpool's Andy Robertson to be dropped by Scotland to allow the former Celtic left-back to play in his favoured role.

With success for Arsenal this season now dependent on winning the Europa League, Tierney would be a big miss for Thursday's quarter-final, first leg against Slavia Prague. —AFP ■

Solving the Neymar question is crucial to PSG's Champions League fortunes

THE same procedure as last year? The same procedure as every year. But for how long? At some point, Paris Saint-Germain will win the Champions League and the world will be able to stop wondering if this could finally be their season.

And so we go through the familiar rigmarole and ask, could this be it? Could the stars have aligned at last? Could PSG finally have found the right balance of coach and stellar players?

Certainly the 4-1 victory at Barcelona in the last 16, arguably their best performance in the Champions League, suggested they could. At which point the caveats immediately kick in. This is PSG, a club who have made a habit of freezing at key moments.

This is PSG, who have won seven of the last eight French league titles and done four trebles in the past six years, who are unused to being challenged domestically and so tend to buckle under pressure in Europe (it may be that the battle at the top of Ligue 1 this season helps them). This is PSG, a byword for extravagance and excess. —AFP ■
